

Sikorsky Global Helicopters Delivers Another S-300C™ Helicopter to All American Helicopters

HORSEHEADS, N.Y., June 8, 2009 – Sikorsky Global Helicopters, a Sikorsky company, announced today that it has delivered another S-300C™ helicopter to All American Helicopters LLC, a flight school in Denton, Texas. Sikorsky Aircraft Corp. is a subsidiary of United Technologies Corp. (NYSE:UTX).

The new S-300C helicopter will join the three Sikorsky helicopters already in operation at All American Helicopters and will be used exclusively for flight training. It is the second helicopter the company has purchased from Sikorsky Global Helicopters in the past year.

The S-300C helicopter is versatile in a broad range of operations and combines high useful-load capabilities with precise maneuverability. Gene LaCoste, founder and president of All American Helicopters, said the S-300C aircraft offers the durability All American Helicopters requires to meet students' needs.

"I look for safety, reliability and value when purchasing an aircraft," LaCoste said. "The helicopters Sikorsky Global Helicopters produces provide all these attributes."
